Pond hockey players ready to hit the ice

Organizers are busy finalizing arrangements in anticipation of 700 players, from as far away as New York, Pennsylvania and Quebec, descending on the 14-acre pond at Pinestone Resort the weekends of Jan. 25 to 27, and Feb. 1 to 3 for the Canadian National Pond Hockey Championships.

Participants range in ages from 19 to 70 plus and will play a combined 300 games of "pond" in what has become not only the preeminent grassroots hockey experience but also one of the largest events of its kind in the world.

What is sure to be a fan favourite is the new men's and women's "Pondimonium" divisions where teams are more concerned about how they look than the score. In fact, one of the event highlights is the creativity teams put into their uniforms. John Teljeur, event owner and general manager of Pinestone, says, "It's Stanley Cup meets Halloween. We've had teams dressed as nuns, snowmen, penguins and pylons. It's really entertaining the lengths they go to have fun at the event both on and off the ice. A lot of teams have been at the event for over 10 years and every year they do something different."

This year, the action on the ice will be matched by the fun off it. Each night, the event features live bands including Rude E Bones, Arden and the Tourists, Little Bones (a tribute to the Hip) and Acrobat – a band that appeared with U2 in 2015 when they were in Toronto. For the first time, the event officially opens its doors to the general public to join in the fun. A limited number of tickets are available for each show at a cost of $20 per show. Concert tickets are available at Pinestone Resort or online at www.canadapondhockey.ca.

While pond hockey games can be quite competitive, they're also a whole lot of fun. These vikings got in the spirit while playing at Pinestone. /Photo submitted Players and spectators alike will enjoy the "Fire on Ice" patio overlooking the rinks, serving beverages as well as the new tasty slow cooked smokehouse barbecue menu at Pinestone. The patio will also have custom built, raised wood burning fire pits to keep everyone toasty.

A variety of awesome Haliburton experiences will be up for grabs in the silent auction area in support of Heat Bank Haliburton County – an organization that supplies emergency heat for area residents that run out each winter.

The event is powered by over 100 community volunteers. One of the busiest groups is the Baffin Ice Crew that not only builds but also maintains and cleans the 18 rinks throughout the two weekend event. In total, they will move nearly five million cubic feet of snow weighing some 38,000 tons.

Thanks to Amazing Agency, Haliboo TV will once again be on the air offering live streaming of the event, inside and out.

A special thanks to the sponsors that make the event possible including Ventrac Tractors, Battlefield Equipment Rentals, Budweiser, Gibson's Finest, Baffin Clothing, Amazing Agency, Viper Marketing, Red Bull and Pinestone Resort.

MH launches contest to name common room

CHAD INGRAM
County Life Staff

The Township of Minden Hills has launched the Made in Minden: Room for Improvement Contest to name the common room at the Minden Hills Cultural Centre.

Home to the Minden library before the current Minden branch of the Haliburton County Public Library was constructed, the common room is a multi-purpose space used for a variety of activities and events at the centre.

"We launched this contest to remind locals to be proud of their roots," township economic development, destination and marketing officer Emily Stonehouse said. "Minden is a community filled with stories and successes, and I thought this contest would be a way to share those stories and learn from our past while we work towards our future together. We look forward to hearing stories and sharing them with the community."

The township is looking for the name of a person, place or story that played a key role in the development of Minden.

Entry forms can be found on the township's website at https://mindenhills.ca/minden-hills-cultural-centre-home/, emailed to estonehouse@mindenhills.ca, or dropped off in person at the cultural centre.

There is a limit of one entry per person, and the judging of submissions will be completed by a panel consisting of community members and township staff.

The contest deadline is March 8 and in April, the submitted stories and photos will be displayed in the common room, and a plaque with the chosen name revealed.

Canada's largest adventure race returns to Haliburton in May

The 18th annual edition of Storm the Trent – Canada's largest adventure racing event, will make its return to the village of Haliburton on the weekend of May 25 to 26, 2019.

Residents may recall from last spring, the unusual presence of hundreds of canoe and kayak paddlers staged at the start line on the south shore of Head Lake. More than 700 participants were treated to the trail systems, bike routes and waterways surrounding the village that weekend, as the long standing event made its first-ever venture north to the Haliburton Highlands.

This year, solo racers and teams of two or four will once again storm their way through three top-secret race courses of varying distances and degrees of difficulty. Each course will be made up of canoe or kayak paddling, mountain biking and trail running stages, combined with elements of navigation and route-finding. Racers are offered the choice of the beginner and family-friendly "Hike" course; the more intermediate-level "Trek" option; or the "Trek Elite" advanced course.

In keeping with adventure race tradition, course details are not revealed to participants until Event Day, but organizers are hinting that the second installment of the Storm the Trent Haliburton edition will feature all-new race routes.

"One of the key elements of the event is that the experience be a different one for participants each year" says race director Sean Roper. "We knew that bringing Storm the Trent to Haliburton would present numerous options for creating new racecourse plans, and we're pretty excited about what we have in store for 2019."

The late-May timing allows local tourism operators to enjoy a noticeable bump in visitor stays just before the start of peak season. Registration for the 2018 event reached full capacity two months prior, and organizers are expecting the same for 2019.

To learn more, visit www.stormthetrent.com, or contact Sean Roper at Storm Racing at 905-580-2767.

Storm the Trent participants await the go signal for a 7km paddle around Head Lake on May 26 for the paddling portion of an adventure race that also included up to 60km of mountain biking and 13km of trail trekking. /SUE TIFFIN Staff

What You AUTO know from Curry Chevrolet

What should I do? Lease vs. Buy!

WITH INDUSTRY TRENDS consistently changing and new models coming to market each year, we are experiencing a shift in the conventional vehicle purchase methods. We have customers looking to stay up on all the latest technology with new phones, tablets, etc. And when it comes to the auto industry there is no exception. Our customers are demanding that their car, truck or SUV be equipped with compatible technology to keep up with the rest of their digital requirements.

How this relates to leasing vs. financing is how long it takes for something to be considered out of date. It used to just be the style of a vehicle, and a manufacturer could safely allow five-plus years before the market would demand a redesign. Now looks are still important but what the vehicle is capable of, or in many cases compatible with, is even more important. This is the deciding factor behind the ownership cycle for most buyers.

Leasing has been out for a few decades now but in the past was very poorly administered, very few qualifying questions were asked to buyers, and the pros and cons were not explained in enough depth. This mainly due to lack of knowledge on the industry's behalf. We at Curry's focus on making sure we provide detailed quotes with all the information needed by the customer to know exactly what they are getting into. Details like residual value, interest rate, kilometres per year allowed, and all the available insurances to help protect the customer from unexpected wear and tear charges upon the vehicles return.

But the disclosure of all of the items above only helps if the right questions have been answered first. Does the client know how many kilometres they will drive per year? Is there any potential for changes to job location, travelling for sports and activities, or new additions to the family? These can all have dramatic impacts on whether a lease is a right choice among others that often come up during the purchase interview. For example, questions like these will allow us to show if a customer implies they drive 40-50,000 kilometres a year then a lease may not be the best-suited option.

To look at the numbers side of things it is virtually impossible to compare one lease vs finance to another as each vehicle has its own incentives, purchase prices, and residual values. The myth that leasing is always cheaper sometimes surprises our customers when we present both options and they learn that the lease can actually be higher per month in some cases. Traditional finance is very straight forward, you have a purchase price, and then there is the typical fees like licences and HST that are added. You then decide on the term and apply the provided interest rate to reach the payment. This is still the largest form of automotive purchases in Canada by over 50% for individual reasons. Ownership always tops the list, however there are also customers that like to reach full equity in their vehicles and some even enjoy no payments for a time following the end of the loan.

How leasing can appeal to some is when we start to look at the time between vehicle purchases, depreciation factors, and future maintenance and repairs. With leasing, you are only making payments on the difference between the purchase price and the residual price, which is the fixed purchase option at lease end. Then the taxes are calculated on the payment only, not the entire purchase price. This allows the payments to be taken over a shorter term, allowing the customer to upgrade sooner. Factors like depreciation also don't become as important. The residual is pre-determined, giving the customer peace of mind that exchange rates on the Canadian dollar won't affect their life cycle or if they are involved in an accident and there is an insurance claim on the car or truck, they do not have to assume the loss in equity due to lower wholesale values. In some cases I have even had customers pay a higher monthly payment to have a guaranteed end date, if they are on a contract with their job or they have children leaving for College or University. Needs change so it helps them plan better, leaving less to think about in their busy lives.

This is a very brief introduction to the lease vs finance conversation and is not by any means meant to sway someone's decision one way or the other but more to suggest an in-depth look at what they are expecting from their vehicle, how long they plan to keep it and what they plan on using it for. My best suggestion is to sit down with a sales and leasing consultant and just go through the exercise, it may surprise you what you find.

YWCA accepting applications for education grants

Two women's education grants offered by the YWCA Peterborough Haliburton are now open to applications.

The YWCA Hazel Education Award is for women who have experienced barriers created by violence and abuse; are residents of Peterborough or Haliburton counties; and are furthering their formal or informal education. Rural residents are given special consideration for the award of up to $1,000. Applications are due March 11.

The second grant is the YWCA Long Term Education Award, which is up to $2,000 a year, renewable for up to four years. It is to train women for careers that will improve their quality of life and is for women who are abuse survivors; registrants accepted in a post-secondary program in an accredited Canadian institution for the 2019/20 school year; able to provide information detailing financial need; and preferably a resident of Peterborough or Haliburton counties. Applications are due May 6.

Applicants may apply for and receive both awards.

To learn more about YWCA Education Awards, or to apply, visit ywcapeterborough.org/get-help/education or contact Yvonne Porter, YWCA executive assistant, at 705-743-3526 ext. 116 or yporter@ywcapeterborough.org.

Show your Snowball pride with a sweater

DORSETNEWS
Lee Ross
burgesslt@me.com

The Dorset Snowball is fast approaching and what better way to show your Snowball pride than by purchasing sweaters from the Dorset Recreation Centre. Youth sweatshirts are $15 and adult sweatshirts are $25. You can also purchase your 2019 Dorset Snowball button for $3 (which is required to get in), from the Rec Centre or various businesses in town.

Unfortunately due to a lack of volunteers, the 2019 Dorset Poker Rally has been cancelled. The annual event takes place in February at Lions Camp Dorset and benefits both the Tall Pines Snowmobile Club and Lions Camp Dorset. There is a possibility the event will happen in 2020. Like Dorset Poker Rally on Facebook for updates.

The Dorset Ice Palace is officially open for the season! Please keep in mind that the warmer weather and rain will impact the condition of the ice as the season goes on. Look for the OPEN sign next to the rink's double doors, that'll tell you if the rink is open or closed for work. The rink is open 24 hours a day for everyone to use and after dark the lights will come on so you won't be left in the dark.

Happy birthday to Dave Bradbury, Brenda Davies, Samantha Black, Shirley Brown, Madison Allore and Dave Haley. Happy anniversary to Rick and Doris Nash and happy 50th wedding anniversary to Gary and Nita Acker. For birthdays and submissions, please send them to burgesslt@me.com.

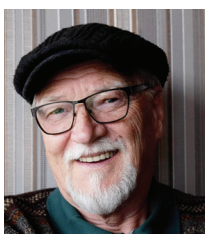
Run, don't walk to the LEG talks

I'M A LEG man. Make that a LEG man; a member of the League of Eccentric Gentlemen. We're a group of six men who meet every month or so, at various local restaurants, to commiserate, problem-solve, eat, drink, laugh and tell great stories. Our members are Hugh Taylor, Sean Pennylegion, Neil Campbell, John du Manoir, James (Jim) Mitchell and me.

We have no set agenda, but a recent invitation to the February edition of Telling Our Stories Speakers Series necessitated an unscheduled LEG get-together on Jan 4. The monthly speaker series at the Fish Hatchery, which is presented by Yours Outdoors, features local folks, and guests from away, who share stories of their adventures and endeavours with people who like to listen to such.



GEORGE FARRELL
On Arts/Culture

We had accepted the invitation, but for a group who usually talk intelligent nonsense, this represented a departure from the norm, and a big challenge, inasmuch as we actually had to plan things; like what we were each going to speak about, and in what order we would speak.

That's not to say that LEG cannot be motivated to action.

A couple of years ago, under the direction of Sir Sean (we jokingly like to think of ourselves as somewhat decadent, modern-day knights of the round table), we devised a stratagem by which we transported some people who could not get out, to a dress rehearsal of the wind symphony. It was a time-consuming exercise, but well worth the effort.

But coming out to the public in a personal manner is a whole new ballgame and one that I'm not at all comfortable with. Put me with a band and I'll sing 'til the cows come home. Give me a good culture- related story idea and I'll write it up in this column. But talking about my exploits? Just thinking about it gives me the willies.

I mean, it's not just about getting up there and talking. Surely, I thought, there needs to be some sort of performance, or entertainment aspect to it, because nobody wants to hear someone droning on. It has to be interesting, and how to make my exploits interesting to others, in a talk, will take some thinking about. And there are other considerations.

Sir Sean and Sir James are naturally loquacious to the point that Sir Hugh takes it upon himself to tell them, in good spirit, to shut up on occasion. For them, speaking comes naturally. For me, as the years go by I talk less and less, to the point that I am not now a particularly good raconteur, if ever I was one. Sir John, our newest member, with the sly sense of humour, has decided not to speak at all, and I somewhat envy him, because I'd like to able to sit back, without any pressure, and listen to my fellow Leggers.

However I'm steeling myself to speak and my topic will be From Yorkville to the Highlands. I will endeavour to encapsulate these years using stories from my hippie days in Yorkville through to the move to the Highlands and becoming involved in the arts community. I reached the decision to look back on my life due to the recent passing of both of my parents. It caused me to assess my years on this planet, and I thought that I'd use Mom and Dad as motivation; because I would not be living in the Highlands were it not for them moving here first.

Jim Mitchell will tell some stories relating to his book, A Little Piece of Paradise: The History of Canning Lake.

Sean Pennylegion will tell stories, accompanied by visuals, of his travels and experiences.

Neil Campbell will tell of his time at The Globe and Mail and talk about the demise of the newspaper industry.

Hugh Taylor will talk about his life in terms of friendships; both successes and failures, and what they have meant to him.

On reflection this looks to be a fascinating evening because there's plenty about my LEG buddies that very few people, including me, have been privy to. This leg up on the LEG talks gives you ample time until the event, so maybe you'll consider spending an evening with us. We'd love to see you. LEG member bios can be found by punching "Yours Outdoors Speaker Series" into your browser. Once on the site click on the Feb. 13 date.

The LEG talks, titled Stories of Old will take place on Wednesday, Feb. 13, 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., at the HHOA Fish Hatchery, 6712 Gelert Rd., Haliburton. Price per person is $10 with a portion of the proceeds being donated to a local conservation organization. To reserve a seat contact Yours Outdoors at 705-754-3436 or info@youroutdoors.ca.

Top 10 uses for an ice hut in the off season

ICE HUTS, as we all know, are useful during the ice fishing season – especially if you are an ice angler. The conundrum has always been what you do with them in the off season. Here are my top 10 uses.

1. As a hiding place for the lawn mower.
2. As a makeshift outhouse.
3. As a roomy garage for a Smart car.
4. As a meeting place for your new chapter of the League of Extraordinary Gentlemen.
5. As a vacation home for your action figures.
6. As the only acceptable place to keep your smelly sandals in summer.
7. As a guest room for unexpected company
8. As the world's smallest ice fishing museum.
9. As a music studio for learners.
10. As a luxury resort for minimalists.

The dog days of Minden

Even after fifteen years, the Minden Techni-cal Challenge brings excitement and fun to town. Thousands of spectators, racers, and well... dogs from as far away as New Mexico travelled to Minden to take in the races. And Minden did not disappoint.

❄ These two pooped out pooches take a rest in their kennel.

❄ The lone Junior racer, Jaclyn Rice, takes to the trail.

❄ These spectators had a lot to look at over the weekend.

❄ The lead dogs on this four dog team can't wait to test the trail, despite the chilly morning.

❄ The Kid and Mutt race is always a popular event of the weekend. Here a racer picks up her third place prize for her efforts.

❄ These junior racers have a few more years before they lead the team.
